This Week's Treviglas Focus – Practising kindness

1. A Message from the Headteacher

It is easy for us to use the phrase practising kindness but sometimes we need to be reminded about how our actions demonstrate that we do this. Our Year 11 and 13 students are currently in the middle of their important examinations. The next three weeks mean everything to them. Therefore, we all need to practise kindness by contributing to this examination process so that our students can continue to be calm and focused. Most importantly, we must all play our part and ensure the corridors are quiet and calm.

2. Mrs Drake – Teaching and Learning

Rosenshine reiterates the importance of checking students' understanding in his Principles of Instruction. Checking for understanding in a lesson has two key benefits: the teacher gains feedback about which part of the material might need to be revisited, re-taught or given more practice time; in rehearsing their understanding, students strengthen their schemata, and improve their long term memory. To check for understanding, teachers may ask a series of probing questions, ask students to summarise complex information, or complete a diagnostic quiz. We use the following routine to check for understanding: 1, 2, 3, Show me/student name. However, the most important part of the routine is the adaptations that we make to our lesson following this. We should identify which students require further support and evaluate whether material needs to be revisited or retaught. The following Walkthrus are useful to support this process: Checking for understanding; Show me boards; Probing questions; Strategies to check for understanding; Quizzing.

3. Mrs Gilbert – Languages

Well done to all the Year 11 students who completed their GCSE speaking exams last week. All the modern foreign languages students have sat their speaking exam - congratulations to you, as we know this isn't easy. Exams have taken place in Spanish, French, Russian and Polish. Here is the GCSE French class working hard on a reading past paper in their following lesson.

4. Mrs Suttle – English

Over the next week, all students in year 7 and 8 will be given a brand new library card which they can use to access the on-line reading resources Borrow Box. If they go into their local library, they can also activate their card and use it to take out books. It is a fantastic resource and really opens up a whole world of reading opportunities for those year groups. We do have a number of cards left over to give to those students in year 9 that would like to also use Borrow Box.

The English Department are so happy and delighted to have given out over 400 library cards to years 7 and 8 so that they can access free books on Borrow Box but also their local library if they complete the registration. This is what Newquay Library have to say:

Welcome to a Lifetime of free books and online eBooks, eAudio, Newspapers and Magazines – all subscription free! To start reading from your device straight away today just download the Borrowbox app for eBooks and eAudio. When prompted select Cornwall Libraries and enter your borrower number on your new Library Membership Gift Card and the pin number is the last four digits.

To read your daily newspaper download the PressReader app or visit the website – when prompted click on Library or Group and select Cornwall, then enter the card number.

For more information on how to access these resources visit <https://www.cornwall.gov.uk/libraries> qr code

Don't forget to complete your registration so you can visit our Libraries to borrow books, reserve books via your online account and much more!

Drop in to your local library or go online to fill in your details to make sure you get the most out of your Library Gift Membership.

Year 11 have their first literature GCSE exam this week on Wednesday 17th June with paper 2 following next Wednesday and we wish them the very best of luck. We have supportive interventions both Tuesday nights before both exams and now have well over half the year group signed up to this which is a phenomenal achievement!

Year 10 are coming to the end of their study of An Inspector Calls, a play which explores social inequality, prejudice and selfishness. Priestley calls his audience to consider the nature of responsibility and what we are all doing to make society a better place for all. It is a timely reminder that our school community is a microcosm of wider society and that we all have a duty to work together to make our school the best it can be so that all students, regardless of socio-economic disadvantage, can learn, thrive and achieve success.

5. Transition Visits

Mrs Gilbert has begun the transition visits to meet the Year 6 children transferring to us in September in their primary schools. For some of these visits a few of our Year 7 students will be accompanying Mrs Gilbert. Today's group of students loved visiting their old primary school and they were a great help in explaining all about transition to secondary.

6. Mr Nions – Sport

The PE team at Treviglas are immensely proud of Josh being selected to play for Exeter Chiefs U17 squad. Josh being selected has not come as a surprise to us, we have been watching him develop over the past few years. Josh has consistently shown commitment and dedication on and off the pitch. Josh has a great attitude and work ethic and will always listen to and take on board feedback to allow himself to improve. Very well done.

7. Miss Quarton - Humanities

Well done to all the Y11 History students who have been focusing well on their Crime and Punishment and Whitechapel Revision before their first exam this week. Miss Quarton was particularly impressed by the turnout for Ms Handford's History Hacks for Paper 1 afterschool the day before the exam, particularly as they had all sat an English Literature Exam that morning! Thank you to Ms Handford for the helpful hints and tips and good luck to Y11!
